SIR HENRY MORGAN, BUCCANEER

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY,
Author of "The Southerners," "For Love of Country," "The Grip of Honor," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY

"Is this true? Can I believe you?"
"Else why should I jeopard my life by freeing you? I hate him, I tell you. Remember! The west gate! There are not 300 men here. The best fifty have gone with Teach and L'Olonis; the rest are drunken and cowardly. Here are weapons. Wrap yourself in this cloak and come. Say no word to any one on the way. As you love the girl, lose no time!"

As he spoke the old man cut the bonds of Alvarado, belted upon him dagger and sword, thrust a charged pistol in his hand, covered his head with a steel cap and threw a long cloak around him. The two then went forth into the night. Avoiding the notice of others, they hastened along the deserted parapet—for there were none to keep watch or guard—until they came to one of the ladders by which the buccaneers had entered the town. Down it Alvarado, first swearing again on the cross on his honor to respect his agreement with Hornigold and again receiving the man's assurance, dropped lastly to the ground.

There was no one to look, and he rushed recklessly across the narrow strip of sand to the shadow of the cliffs, along which he ran until he came opposite the place of his mother's death. The white water was rolling and crashing on the beach and the lady was gone. With a hasty petition for the repose of her soul, he ran on until he reached the turn of the road. Unlike the priest, however, he did not pause the mountain road, but after going a short distance he left the way and plunged to the right through the trees directly up the side of the hill.

His face was cut and slashed by Morgan's dagger; his soul had been racked and torn by the scenes he had gone through; the plight of Mercedes stirred him to the very depths; his heart yearned over the slaughtered garrison, the ruined town, but with a strength superhuman he plunged at the hill in spite of the forest, groping about in the darkness with frantic energy until he found the traces of a slender, rocky path which led over the mountains.

CHAPTER XVIII.

THE day after the sack of the town had been a busy one for the buccaneers. First of all, Morgan had driven, and with some success, to restore some sort of order within the walls. By the aid of his officers and some of the sonest men he had confiscated all of the liquor that he could come at and had stored it under a strong guard in the west fort, which he selected as his headquarters. The governor's palace on the hill above was a more fitting and luxurious residence, and it had been promptly seized, the few defenders being fled in the morning, but for the present Morgan deemed it best to remain in the city and in close touch with his men.

The Spanish soldiers had been cut down to a man the night before, and the majority of the hapless citizens had been killed, wounded or tortured. The unfortunate who were yet alive were given into the charge of San Lorenzo, where they were kept without food, water or attention.

The gates of the town and forts were closed, and some slight attempt was made to institute a patrol of the walls, though the guard that was kept was negligent to the point of contempt. As no enemy was to be expected, the guard did not rigorously insist upon strict watch. Many of the buccaneers were still sodden with wine and could be of no service until they were sobered. They were dragged to the barracks drenched with water and left to recover as best they could.

Fortune favored them, too, in that late in the afternoon a handsome frigate, bringing dispatches from Cartagena, ran in and anchored in the roadstead. Her officers at once came ashore to pay their respects to the commander of the post and forward their papers to the viceroy. Before they suspected anything they were seized and ruthlessly murdered. To take possession of the frigate thereafter was a work of no special difficulty. The crew were disposed of as their officers had been, and the buccaneers rejoiced greatly at the good luck that had brought them so fine a ship. On the next morning Morgan intended to march toward Caracas, whence, after plundering that town and exacting a huge ransom for the lives of those he spared, he would lead his band back to La Guayra, embark on the frigate and then bear away for the isthmus.

During the day Hornigold, whose wound incapacitated him from active movement, remained in command of the fort, with special instructions to look after Mercedes. By Morgan's orders she and her companion were removed to the best room in the fort and luxuriously provided for. He had not discovered the escape of Alvarado, partly because he took no manner of interest in that young man and only kept him alive to influence the girl and partly because Hornigold had assured him that the prisoner was taking his confinement very hardly, that he was mad with anger, in a raging fever of disappointment and anxiety and was constantly begging to see the captain. The boatswain cunningly suggested that it would be just as well to let Alvarado remain in solitude without food or water until the next day, by which time, the boatswain argued, he would be reduced to a proper condition of humility and servitude. Morgan found this advice good. It was quite in consonance with his desires and his practices. He would have killed Alvarado out of hand had he not considered him the most favorable card with which to play the game he was waging with Mercedes for her consent to marry him.

So far as he was capable of a genuine affection he loved the proud Spanish maiden. He would fain persuade her willingly to come to his arms rather than enforce her consent or overcome her scruples by brute strength. There would be something of a triumph in winning her, and this vain, blood-stained old brute fancied that he had sufficient attractiveness for the opposite sex to render him invincible if he set about his wooing in the right way. Here again Hornigold, upon whom, in the absence of Teach, he depended more and more and in whom he confided as of old, advised him.

"I know women," said that worthy, "and all you want is to give her time. Wait until she knows what's happened to the rest of them and sees only you have power to protect her, and she will come to heel right enough. Besides, you haven't given her half a chance.

She's only seen you weapon in hand. She doesn't know what a man you are, captain. Sink me, if I'd your looks, instead of this old, scarred, one-eyed face, there'd be no man I'd give way to and no woman I'd not win! She'll be so anxious to talk to you in the morning that you can make her do anything. Then if you can starve that Spanish dog and break his spirit so that she'll see him crawling at your feet she'll sicken of him and turn to a man."

"Scuttle me," laughed Morgan, "I didn't know you knew so much about the sex. Well, I'll stay away from her till the morning. I shall be busy any way trying to straighten out these drunken sots, and do you put the screws on that captain and leave the lady alone, but see that she lacks nothing."

"Aye, aye; trust me for them both." Hornigold found means during the day—and it was a matter of no little difficulty to elude the guards he himself had placed there—to inform Mercedes of the escape of Alvarado and to advise her that he expected the return of that young man with the troops of the viceroy at 10 o'clock that night. He bade her be of good cheer; that he did not think it likely that Morgan would think of calling upon her or of sending for her until morning, when it would be too late. He promised that he would watch over her and do what he could to protect her; that he would never leave the fort except for a few moments before 10 that night, when he went to admit Alvarado. What was better earnest of his purpose was that he furnished her with a keen dagger, small enough to conceal in the bosom of her dress, and advised her if worst came to worst, and there was no other way, to use it. He impressed on her that on no account was she to allow Morgan to get the slightest inkling of his communication to her, for if the chief buccaneer found this out Hornigold's life would not be worth a moment's thought and Alvarado would be balked in his plans of rescue.

"I didn't know you knew so much."

Mercedes most thankfully received the weapon and promised to respect the confidence.

As far as creature comforts were concerned, the two women fared well. Indeed, they were sumptuously, lavishly, prodigally provided for. Senora Agapida was still in a state of complete prostration. She lay helpless on a couch in the apartment, and ministering to her distracted the poor girl's mind, yet such a day as Mercedes de Lara passed she prayed she might never again experience. The town was filled with the shouts and cries of the buccaneers wandering to and fro, singing drunken choruses, now and again routing out hidden fugitives from places of fancied security and torturing them with ready ingenuity whenever they were taken. The confusion was increased and the noise diversified by the shrieks and groans of these miserable wretches. Sometimes the voices that came through the high windows were those of women, and the sound of their screams made the heart of the brave girl sink like lead in her breast.

A FORWARD STEP

Peace in the Far East Is Daily Growing Nearer.

WASHINGTON SELECTED

America's National Capital the Seat of Negotiations Between Plenipotentiaries.

Only Logical Solution of the Problem Presented to Belligerent Governments.

Washington, June 16.—America's national capital has been selected as the seat of negotiations between the plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan for a treaty of peace. The choice of Washington as the location of the peace conference marks another forward step in the negotiations toward ultimate peace in the far East instituted by President Roosevelt.

Official announcement of the selection of Washington was made by Secretary Loeb at the White House. It read as follows: "When the two governments were unable to agree upon either Chefoo or Paris, the president suggested The Hague, but both governments have now requested that Washington be chosen as the place of meeting, and the president has accordingly formally notified both governments that Washington will be selected."

This statement was supplemented shortly afterward by a semi-official announcement that "after meeting and organizing the plenipotentiaries of the two governments, if it should be found to be uncomfortably hot in Washington, may adjourn the meeting to some summer resort in the North and there continue their sittings until such time as the weather in Washington shall be more comfortable."

Now that some of the details of the negotiations, which have been pending for more than two weeks, are known, the selection of Washington is regarded as the only logical solution of the problem presented to the belligerent governments.

In view of the selection of the seat of the conference, it is expected that within a few days at most, Russia and Japan will announce formally the names of their respective plenipotentiaries. It is deemed likely, also, that, coincidentally with the announcement of the plenipotentiaries an agreement will be reached as to the time of holding the conference. While the date is not so important a detail as the place, it is of particular concern, especially at this season, not only to those who are actively to participate in it, but also to diplomatists generally who are accredited to this capital. A mid-summer conference anywhere so prolonged as a peace conference is likely to be, is not regarded with entirely pleasant anticipations. It is indicated, however, that the proposed conference is scarcely likely to be convened before the middle of August and perhaps not until a later date. It may be July 1, possibly a little later, before the arrangements for the meeting of the plenipotentiaries finally are completed. Both Russia and Japan are moving with the utmost deliberation, for the game of diplomacy now being played is of even greater importance to each government than are the movements of the armies on the battlefield. It will require at least a month for the negotiators of the two governments, with their respective staffs to come together, the distance from Japan, particularly, being so great that a shorter time scarcely could be allowed.

Prior to the formal assembling of the conference, it is probable, if precedent be followed, that a peace protocol will be negotiated. The making of the protocol will take place before the declaration of a formal armistice. It has not been learned yet who will be authorized by the Russian and Japanese governments to arrange and sign the protocol. The negotiations regarding it probably will be conducted in Washington, and it is regarded as likely that the respective diplomatic representatives of the belligerents will sign the document on behalf of their governments.

It is too early yet to definitely announce what arrangements may be made here for the holding of the conference. It is the custom for the government at whose capital such negotiations are conducted, to provide a suitable place and to furnish the negotiators with adequate facilities for the transaction of their business.

President Roosevelt is gratified that the arrangements of a preliminary nature have been completed without undue friction. He would have preferred that the conference be held at The Hague, although the selection of Washington naturally is complimentary to him personally and to the American government.

It is well understood that the Japanese government will not make known prior to the assembling of the plenipotentiaries the terms on which she will be willing to conclude peace. The Japanese emperor is known to desire that when peace is concluded it shall be coupled with reasonable assurances of its permanency. Among well-informed diplomats it is deemed probable that Japan's terms, once they are stated, will be regarded by the world as reasonable and likely to be acceptable to Russia.

BRITONS PLEASED

Washington's Selection Regarded as Compliment to Roosevelt.

London, June 16.—The acceptance of Washington as the place for the conduct of peace negotiations is regarded by the London newspapers as a great compliment to President Roosevelt's diplomacy and as a further proof of the growing influence of the United States in international politics. Moreover, it is felt that Japan would not have proceeded thus far unless convinced there was a reasonable prospect of the negotiations bearing fruit. It is therefore concluded that Japan has resolved to propose moderate and reasonable terms. Altogether the situation is regarded as much more hopeful than it was twenty-four hours ago, and, as the Daily News remarks in commenting on "one of the most momentous diplomatic actions of modern history," "humanity waits for the treaty of Washington."

The Daily Telegraph similarly refers to "the novel part played by the president" and expresses satisfaction at the selection of diplomatists instead of soldiers to conduct the negotiations, because there will be less chance of wrangling over military positions. The Daily Telegraph further says there is reason to believe that the Japanese demands will astonish the world by their moderation.

In view of the Daily Telegraph's position as a mouthpiece of the government, this latter statement is important. Little attention is paid here to the sensational stories of European complications, especially concerning France and Germany.

The Daily Telegraph says that if peace can be established firmly in the far East, "there is nothing in the relations of the European powers which ought to alarm us." Other papers express similar disbelief regarding these rumors. The question of an armistice excites keen interest, and the practical cessation of all news from the Manchurian battlefield is being considered the harbinger of another tremendous struggle.

Diplomatic Victory for Japan.

Paris, June 16.—The choice of Washington for the meeting of the peace plenipotentiaries gives general satisfaction here, as it is considered the appropriate result of President Roosevelt's initiative. Diplomats are inclined to take the view that the selection of Washington is the first diplomatic victory for Japan as Russian influence favored a European point, while Japan was opposed to a meeting in Europe. Baron Rosen, who will succeed Count Cassini as Russian ambassador at Washington, declined to comment on the selection, for the present at least. The departure of the baron is still fixed for June 28, but the choice of Washington may result in advancing the date, as his sojourn in Paris is a matter of personal convenience.

Russia Waking Up.

St. Petersburg, June 16.—The Nashashin demands a businesslike accounting of the money subscribed to rebuild the Russian fleet, saying: "Enough of concealed abuses. Great names are no longer guarantees."

Significant Resignations.

St. Petersburg, June 16.—Grand Duke Alexis, the high admiral, who is an uncle of the emperor, and Admiral Avellan, head of the Russian admiralty department, have resigned.

Chinamen at West Point.

West Point, N. Y., June 16.—For the first time in the history of the military academy, representatives of the Chinese empire have been admitted as cadets in the institution. The two young Chinamen, under special act of congress, will receive instructions with the class of 145 candidates just received as cadets.

SAD TALE OF CRAFT

Greatest Scandal Chicago Has Ever Seen Gradually Coming Out.

STARTLING RESULTS

Are Promised as the Outcome of Sensational Evidence Given by One Who Is on the Inside.

Entire Scandalous History of Dealings Between Employers and Labor Unions.

Chicago, June 16.—The greatest scandal Chicago has ever seen, according to State's Attorney Healy, is to follow the disclosures made before the grand jury by John C. Driscoll when the former secretary of the Associated Building Trades and Coal Team Owners' association revealed the entire history of the dealings between employers and union labor leaders, particularly that branch of union labor represented by the Chicago teamsters' union.

State's Attorney Healy declared that the bribery and conspiracy charges dropped into comparative insignificance beside the accusations which have been brought to the attention of the grand jury. The state's attorney said:

"More serious offenses have been committed than bribery and conspiracy, and the evidence presented to the jury has been of an extremely sensational character. It is very important and will lead to startling results. The names mentioned by the witnesses are those of prominent men on both sides. If I thought there would be no results from this investigation I would call a halt immediately. I believe the present line of inquiry will occupy the attention of the jury for the remainder of this week and a portion of next, but if necessary all the docket cases will be sidetracked because of the great importance I attach to the present inquiry."

Today witnessed the gathering before the grand jury of twenty or more of the prominent business men of Chicago, together with leading members of the bar. Charges of a serious kind are said to figure in the evidence in connection with which these men have been summoned.

John C. Driscoll was the chief witness before the grand jury, and related what he called the history of the dealings between employers and union labor. Driscoll told how the coal teamsters and coal team owners had made the first joint trade agreement, which provided that the owners should employ only members of the coal teamsters' union, and that the members of the union should work for no employer not a member of the Coal Team Owners' association. The effect of this arrangement, the witness declared, was to force every coal wagon owner into the Coal Team Owners' association and every coal wagon driver into the teamsters' union. The owners behind this provision that barred union drivers from working for men not members of the association and prevented non-union drivers from driving coal wagons, raised the cartage rates of coal from 30 to 50 cents a ton for short hauls and to as high as $1 a ton for longer hauls. Driscoll took before the jury several check-books which, together with the cancelled checks, are expected to prove many of the charges made by him against business men and labor leaders.

It was evident by the appearance of the state's attorney and members of the jury at the time of adjournment that Driscoll had given some very remarkable testimony. Both State's Attorney Healy and his assistant, Mr. Fake, and several members of the jury were highly agitated, and they admitted passively that evidence of the gravest importance had been given, but everybody was sworn to secrecy. Driscoll also was much agitated as he left the criminal court building. He refused, however, to discuss the nature of his testimony, merely saying: "I told the jury about strikes in which I have been involved for several years, and also told what I knew about the present strike. That is all I can say now."

WOMEN'S NEGLECT

SUFFERING THE SURE PENALTY

Health Thus Lost Is Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? We hear every day the same story over and over again. "I do not feel well; I am so tired all the time!"

More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and no doubt you feel far from well. The cause may be easily traced to some derangement of the female organs which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, bearing-down pains, flatulency, nervousness, sleeplessness, leucorrhoea.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result.

The never-failing remedy for all these symptoms is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Kate McDonald, of Woodbridge, N. J., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "I think that a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but restored health has meant so much to me that I cannot help from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women."

"For a long time I suffered untold agony with a uterine trouble and irregularities, which made me a physical wreck, and no one thought I would recover, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me, and made me well and strong, and I feel it my duty to tell other suffering women what a splendid medicine it is."

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

Horrid Disaster Recalled.

New York, June 16.—A granite shaft erected in memory of those who lost their lives in the disaster to the excursion steamer General Slocum in East river just a year ago yesterday, was unveiled in the Lutheran cemetery in Middle Village, L. I. Nearly 1,000 lives were sacrificed when the Slocum was burned, and of those who perished sixty-one were buried in the plot where the monument unveiled yesterday was erected.

Conspiracy Revealed.

Athens, Greece, June 16.—The late Premier Delyannis, who was assassinated June 13, died in absolute poverty. The chamber will vote a pension to the immediate members of his family. One of the proprietors of the gambling house with which the murderer was connected has been arrested. He gave the police the names of the instigators of the premier's assassination.

No Reconstruction for Him.

Louisville, Ky., June 16.—Fraternal greetings were read in the meeting of the United Confederate Veterans from the state encampment of the G. A. R. of Indiana, in session at Madison. The greetings were only moderately cheered, and one delegate on the platform, with the remark that there "is getting to be too much of this fraternizing," took his hat and departed.

The Start

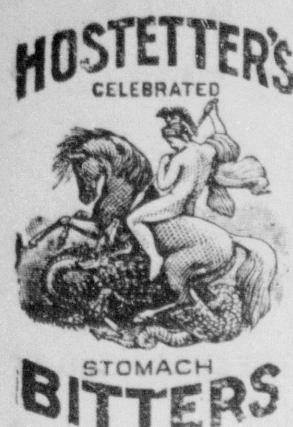

In married life is generally made on an equal footing of health in man and wife. But how soon, in many cases, the wife loses the start and fades in face and fails in flesh, while her husband grows even more rugged and robust.

There is one chief cause for this wifely failure and that is, the failure of the womanly health. When there is irregularity or an unhealthy drain, inflammation, ulceration or female weakness, the general health is soon impaired.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures women's diseases. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"A little over a year ago I wrote to you for advice," says Mrs. Elizabeth J. Fisher, of Diana, W. Va. "You advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did, and with the most happy result. I was troubled with female weakness and bearing-down pains. Had a very bad pain nearly all the time in my left side, nervousness and headache. Was so weak I could hardly walk across my room. Could not sit up only just a little while at a time. My husband got me some of Dr. Pierce's medicine and I began its use. Before I had taken two bottles I was able to help do my work. I used three bottles in all and it cured me. Now I do all my housework. It is the best medicine I ever used."

The Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

ROOSEVELT.

Seldom if ever in the annals of the world, has any people been so blessed with an executive whose virtues were so great, and whose sole ambition was to serve the people, as that matchless one, Theodore Roosevelt. He has been called the man of war, but he is today the greatest advocate of peace the world has ever known. He has been pictured as the man with the big stick, but he never strikes except in the interest of humanity. His ambition is boundless, but that ambition is always to be good and do good. He comes nearer fulfilling the attributes of Washington, "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen" than any man from that time to the present day. Without regard to race, or color, he recognizes brains as the dominant factor in the world's affairs of today. Whether dining with Booker Washington, or holding conferences with the ambassadors of the great powers of the world, he is the same common, every day, American citizen. His honesty is never doubted and all nations give attentive ear when he speaks. He knows not failure, for success has crowned his every effort, and the people, all the people, love him because of his great achievements. He has silenced criticism, and his political opponents have but words of praise for him. He is truly the best product of our American institutions. And may we say with out being boastful, that the Republican party loves him, because he represents all that is best and pure in American politics. May the people uphold his hands in all his worthy endeavors.

A WASHINGTON dispatch says that one of the clerks in the Seymour post office is to get an increase of $100 a year in salary.

The new officers elected by the G. A. R. at Madison are given in another column. The old friends of Capt. Jos. Balsley hope that he will be reappointed adjutant general. It is conceded that he has made a good officer.

WOODMEN

Leave Tomorrow Night For Milwaukee.

About forty Modern Woodmen, including the uniformed drill team under the command of Capt. Claude Carter, will leave tomorrow night for Milwaukee to a local camp of the M. W. A. and the Foresters Encampment.

The drill team will participate in some of the prize drills and their friends are confident that they will be among the winners. The boys have been drilling very faithfully and are under fine discipline. All who will make the trip contemplate an excellent time.

Bond of $5,000.

The Rev. Ulysses G. Sutherland, who has been in jail since May 5 on a charge of killing his wife, Mrs. Geneva L. Sutherland last October, was granted his liberty under bond Thursday at the morning session of the Floyd circuit court, the bond being fixed at $5,000 by Judge Utz.

The sureties on the bond are Charles Sutherland, father of the accused; Prof. Levi H. Scott, superintendent of the county schools; the Rev. Martin Hanger, of Georgetown; S. F. McBride, Albert White, Maurice Laub, and Frances M. Yenowine, of Georgetown township. The bondsmen are well known and leading citizens of the city and county and their bond would have been good for an amount much greater than that fixed by the court.—New Albany Tribune.

Two Miles of Mains.

The Seymour Water Company has completed the work of putting down two miles of new water mains. The work was well done and will give water service and fire protection to parts of the city not formerly having these advantages. Work on the new filtration plant is going on nicely and within a few weeks that splendid improvement will be completed and the filtration plant will be in operation.

Will Appeal.

All day Thursday the case of the State vs. Hardin Hancock charging assault and battery on Charles Spurling was on trial before Judge U. F. Lewis and a jury. The case went to the jury a little after 8 o'clock and about 9:15 a verdict was announced. The defendant was found guilty and a fine of ten dollars was assessed. The defendant gave notice that he would file an appeal bond and take the case to circuit court.

The Children's Favorite.

For Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc., One Minute Cough Cure is the children's favorite. This is because it contains no opiate, is perfectly harmless, tastes good and cures. Sold by W. F. Peter and A. J. Pellens.

Opposes Old Machine.

The Clark County Citizen, the leading Democratic paper of that county speaks as follows this week:

Every Democrat who stands for the Democracy of Thomas Jefferson and William Jennings Bryan ought to demand the election of Michael A. Sweeney for State Chairman. We believe that Clark county has had enough of Parkerism, Taggartism and O'Brienism. We need a man of the people to manage our campaigns; then Clark county will not be found giving a Republican majority for President.

Sun Brothers' Show.

The advertising car of Sun Brothers' show, which will exhibit here June 25, was here today. This show is a progressive railroad show, trained animal exhibition and circus. It gives you more enjoyment for less money than any show on the road.

Name Omitted.

In our published list the first of the week of the names of Knights of Pythias buried here and whose graves were decorated last Sunday the name of Edward Jackson, who died in 1904, was inadvertently missed. Mr. Jackson was an honored member of Hermon Lodge.

Police Court.

Howard Foster, of Reddington, filed an affidavit today against his brother, Clyde Foster, for assault and battery. The case is set for trial before Judge Congdon at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

APPEAL TO LAW

Complaint Is Made of Gambling at Watering Places.

Indianapolis, June 16.—The disposition of people opposed to a wide-open policy to tell their troubles to the governor is not abating. Complaint against the gambling resorts at French Lick and West Baden have been made to Governor Hanly by H. A. Carnes, an attorney at French Lick. He wrote the governor urging him to do something to better the conditions at the two famous watering places. He also wrote to Attorney General Miller about the matter. Carnes says local authorities make no attempt whatever to restrict gambling. It is not known whether or not the state administration will look into the matter, as Governor Hanly was not at his office today and Mr. Miller refused to make a statement. It is not believed, however, that there will be any steps here, as similar complaints have been lodged against the two resorts and the state administration has taken the position that it is a matter for local authorities to investigate. A petition has been received at the governor's office from Marion urging him to take a hand in stamping out the dives that are said to be flourishing near the national soldiers' home.

The development of the Interurban roads in Indiana, while not so marked as it was a few years ago, has settled down to a steady stride. Thousands of dollars are now being expended and new lines are being planned. The stockholders of the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company have decided to extend their line from Rushville to Connersville this year. This is another important step, as probably by the end of next year the line will be completed into Cincinnati. Arrangements are being made to build a line to Terre Haute which will eventually be extended to St. Louis. A line is now being completed between Kokomo and Marion, and in northern Indiana the Winona Assembly association is planning a line to connect Warsaw, Goshen, Elkhart, Huntington, Columbia City and other places. These lines are assured and there are several others that are still on paper but which will probably be built within the next two or three years.

Captain Harry S. New, acting chairman of the Republican national committee, has returned from an extended outing at Turtle Lake, Mich. He looks to have gained several pounds in weight lately. Captain New is always more or less in politics, but he is not playing the game very strong now. He will probably spend most of the summer at Turtle Lake, making an occasional trip to Indianapolis and Washington to look after the interests that are in his hands. He is favorable to the nomination of Frank D. Stalnaker for mayor and will probably remain here until after the primaries.

Several bets at 8 to 10 were posted here today that Frank D. Stalnaker will receive the Republican nomination for mayor and elected over the Democratic candidate. Tea to 9 is offered that Stalnaker will defeat Bookwalter. There are few takers. Bookwalter men are demanding two for one on their candidate, although they declare they are absolutely sure of winning. Stalnaker's speaking campaign will open tonight with about a score of prominent men on the programs. His backers are more encouraged than ever at the outlook.

A Mitigating Circumstance.

Washington, June 16.—The president has remitted the sentence of dismissal imposed upon First Lieutenant Earle W. Tanner, Seventeenth Infantry, who was tried in the Philippines on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer. In an endorsement the president says that although the testimony shows the officer was indiscreet, it does not appear that his action was criminal to a degree warranting such severe sentence. The fact that the officer sacrificed rank in order to secure service in the Philippines where there was active operations, further influenced the president in his decision. He is the son of former Commissioner of Pensions Tanner.

Trust Agreement Executed.
New York, June 16.—Grover Cleveland, Justice Morgan J. O'Brien of the state supreme court, and George Westinghouse of Pittsburgh, trustees of the Equitable Life Assurance Society stock formerly owned by James H. Hyde, met at the Hotel Buckingham in this city and after a conference with Elihu Root and Paul Cravath, Thomas H. Ryan was sent for and a trust agreement was executed. Mr. Cleveland was elected chairman and George F. Parker secretary.

Three Sisters Drowned.

Brandenburg, June 16.—Hallie, Fanny and Annie Belle Booth, daughters of Dr. Grant Booth, were drowned while bathing in the Ohio river near Creelsburg, Ky. Miss Annie Belle had become exhausted, her sisters swam to her rescue and in her frenzy the former drew both her sisters down.

The Fifth Victim.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 16.—Mark Mogan, fourteen years old, while diving in a pond west of the city, struck a stone and was drowned. He is the fifth Terre Haute boy drowned this season.

Secretary Hay's Return.

New York, June 16.—Secretary of State John Hay arrived from Europe last night on the steamer Baltic, much improved in health, but plainly showing that he is far from being a well man.

Many children inherit constitutions weak and feeble, others due to childhood troubles. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will positively cure children and make them strong. 35 cents, Tea or tablets. W. F. Peter Drug Co.

SCROFULA A Disease We Inherit

The tainted blood of ancestors lays upon the shoulders of innocent offspring until suffering by transmitting to them, through the blood, that blighting disease. Scrofula; for in nearly every instance the disease can be traced to some family blood trouble, or blood-kin marriage which is contrary to the laws of nature. Swelling, ulcerating glands of the neck, catarrh, weak eyes, sores, abscesses, skin eruptions, white swelling, hip disease and other deformities, with a wasting of the natural strength and vitality, are some of the ways this miserable disease manifests itself. The poison is transmitted through the blood pollutes and weakens that health-sustaining fluid and in place of its nutritive qualities fills the circulation with scrofulous matter and tubercular deposits, often resulting in consumption. A disease which has been in the family blood for generations, perhaps, or at least since the birth of the sufferer, requires constitutional treatment. S. S. S. is the remedy best fitted for this. It cleanses the blood of all scrofulous and tuberculous poisons, makes it rich and pure and under the tonic effects of this great blood medicine the general health improves, the symptoms all pass away, there is a sure return to health, the disease is cured permanently while posterity is protected. Book on the blood and any advice wished, furnished by our physicians, without charge.

OLD SOLDIERS

Report A Delightful Time At Madison.

The old soldiers and numerous others who attended the Grand Army encampment at Madison are back home and report a most enjoyable time. The pleasure of meeting old comrades is always an enjoyment to the old veteran. Then the manifest interest Madison took in the encampment was a delight to all the visitors.

The crowd was really larger than a city of the size of Madison can care for well unless the people generally are willing to throw open their homes. But the hospitality of the Madison people was full and complete and all visitors were well cared for.

Madison is a beautiful place to go and many people were there for the first time and they enjoyed every hour they were there.

Seals In The Wabash.

Two seals were recently seen in the Wabash river near Mt. Vernon. This is the second time they have been observed this year. They were also seen early in the winter. The seals seem to remain in hiding during the day, but move about at night and in early morning. No effort has been made to capture them, and the farmers seem desirous of leaving them alone. The seals are very shy, and they quickly disappear on the approach of any person. Where they came from is a mystery, but their presence in the Wabash river cannot be disputed.—Exchange.

June Recreation.

Recreation for June is filled with good things for the out door people. The leading story, "The Road," by Walter K. Stone, illustrated by the writer and Charles Livingston Bull, contains an urgent appeal to the jaded city sportsman, asking him to turn aside from the beaten paths and explore the by-ways and high-ways through the fields and in the woods. "Joe's Double Catch," by Don Cameron, is a charming short story, with a country boy and girl and a big trout as the stars.

Euchre Party.

Miss Barbara Laugel entertained a number of friends last evening at progressive euchre in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilhelm, who have been visiting here from Indianapolis. Mr. John Brannaman, of Brownstown, received first gentlemen's prize and Mrs. Fred Able won first ladies' prize. Refreshments were served.

For particulars apply to local ticket agents of Pennsylvania Lines.

Stacks of Wall Paper

It is common to designs are here. If you knew how cheap artistic wall paper is at our store, you wouldn't let those rooms go another season with their old wall covering.

Freshen them up, it'll cost you but little, and means lots of comfort.

PLANTING MONEY

In your house in the shape of good, honest, thoroughly seasoned, and therefore damp-resisting, lumber, always pays in the long run. Less repairs, for one thing; fewer eyesores in the shape of warped, twisted and generally shrunk-out-of-shape windows and doors for another. Honest lumber awaits your call at this yard of

MEETS EVERY DEMAND.

The Investment Insurance Trust Bond issued by the National Life Insurance Co., of Vermont, combines all the desirable features of life and endowment insurance in one contract, and after three years, if deposits are discontinued for any reason, the holder of the Bond or Contract may choose to have

1. His insurance extended for a definite period; or
2. A paid-up bond participating in the profits of the company payable at the end of the time for which the contract was made; or
3. A guaranteed amount to be received by the purchaser in cash or surrender of the contract; or
4. A paid-up life policy, participating in the profits, payable at the death of the purchaser.

No other company writes so valuable a contract. Full details will be given if you call on

NO FEE TO FISH

In Michigan, the Mecca This Year of Indiana Tourists as in Years Past.

Positive information received from Michigan authorities states there is no truth whatever in a report that an annual fee of $25 or any other fee is to be imposed on non-resident fishermen in Michigan. A rumor of such a law having been passed in Michigan is stamped as absolutely without foundation. The origin of this false report is traced to talk current last winter when a question was raised in legislative proceedings concerning the subject, but no action taken, legislators not deeming such a measure advisable. Nothing further has been done, and tourists from Indiana are assured that they need not forego their customary outing to Michigan resorts this summer on the score of being confronted by a tax collector, for there are none such to bar the way. Judging from the many inquiries already received by W. W. Richardson, Assistant General Passenger Agent of the Pennsylvania Lines, Indianapolis, regarding Michigan resorts and the famous fishing, there will be more than the usual number of Indiana tourists enjoy their summer outing in those health and pleasure havens where either bay fever nor fishing fever exist.
